ABOUT ME

I'm driven by a lifelong passion for acting and performing, I brings years of drama education from school classes and productions to every role. My background in trampoline gymnastics and taekwondo has instilled in me a unique sense of body control, discipline and work ethic, which I apply to physical characterisation. I excel at improvisation and memorisation, thriving in dynamic and fast-paced environments. I strive to continually learn, develop, and improve my skills through researching techniques and role models while also being enrolled in acting classes to further hone my skills. I openly aspire to be a caring, funny, talkative, creative, expressive, dramatic, theatrical, honest, hardworking, and active person. I am eager to bring energy and dedication to any project.
